

• Outdoor play is better than indoor play

I believe that indoor play is better than outdoor play.

- Firstly indoor play cannot be interrupted by factors such as bad weather or insects. For example heavy rain can make you very wet so you have to stop playing your favourite game. Don't you think that would make you very sad? Also insects are very annoying and bite you. Who likes insect bites? You can play board games inside all day.

Another reason why I feel this way is that some activities such as art and craft are easier to complete
